Warsaw, Jan. 4.

THE King and Queen of Poland, after a long abſence are expected here the 8th inſtant, and on the 12th will be begun the convocation or great Council, which is appointed to be held. Few of the Senators are yet arrived, but the reſt are all on their way. From Moſcovy we are aſſured that the Czar has laid aſide all thoughts of Peace with the Turks, and is reſolved to purſue the War with all the Vigor poſſible, and that he is ſending Ambaſſadors hither to engage this Crown to joyn with him in it.

Madrid, Jan. 10. The Queen makes her publick Entry into this place on the 13 inſtant, which will be performed with great State and Magnificence. We are told that a conſiderable ſupply of money is ordered to be ſent for Flanders; From whence we hear that the Proceedings of the French begin to make people ſomewhat uneaſie.

Prague, Jan 20. The Emperor reſolves, as we underſtand, to continue here till Eaſter, and then it's ſaid he will go to Egra in Bohemia to be preſent at a general Muſter of his Troops that are in theſe parts, which ſome ſeem to think there may be occaſion to employ, eſpecially if what we hear of the Levies and other preparations which the French are making, be true.

Berlin, Jan. 24. Yeſterday Lieutenant General Spaen parted from hence for Cleves, to give the neceſſary Orders upon the French leaving that Country, which we are aſſured they are now going to do. Our Elector is at preſent at Poſtdam, very much indiſpoſed with the Gout.

Strasburg, Jan 30. The French not being pleaſed with the Fortifications they have been making at Hunningen, are, as we are told, going to demoliſh them, intending to make them of a larger extent. They will likewiſe fortifie Landaw and Croon-Weiſſenburg, and other places in theſe parts. In the mean time the French do not ſuffer any Corn to be carried to Baſle.

Francfort, February 1. Monſieur Colbert the French Ambaſſador has not yet finiſhed his buſineſs at the Court of Bavaria, there remaining one main point undetermined: The French would have it ſtipulated That in caſe of Failure of an Heir-Male of the Line of William Duke of Bavaria, the Succeſſion of that Dukedome ſhould devolve to the Son of the Dauphin by the Princeſs he is now going to Marry, if he have any, which the Bavarian Miniſters will by no means agree to; and this, it's ſaid, is the Reaſon, why the Ceremony of the Marriage, which would otherwiſe have been performed ere this, is deferred. We are told, that the States of the Empire, upon the repeated Complaints made to them of France's contravening the Peace, have reſolved to pray the Emperor to call a General Dyet, where ſuch Reſolutions may be taken, as are neceſſary for the ſafety of the Empire.

Cologne, Feb. 2. The firſt inſtant arrived here from Manheim the Rhingrave, natural Son of the Elector Palatine, and the Count de Scomberg, Son of the Mareſchal of that name; they were both entertained yeſterday at dinner by the Biſhop of Strasburg, and this day they both parted again from hence, the firſt for England, and the other for France. Yeſterday came hither from Bruſſels the Count d'Arcbinto, who is going to the Emperors Court in quality of Envoy Extraordinary from the Crown of Spain: he will ſtay here ſome days to treat with our Elector concerning Dinant, which ſome people perſuade themſelves he may yet be prevailed upon to part with, notwithſtanding the French Envoy here does all he can to hinder it. It is very confidently ſaid that the French will quit Weſel the 15th Inſtant; but many are ſo incredulous that they will not believe the French are in earneſt till they ſee it done.

Liege, Feb. 3. The Cardinal de Bouillon arrived here two days ſince, and was received by our Magiſtrates with great reſpects. He pretends to be choſen Coadjutor to the Biſhop of Liege, and offers in that caſe to reunite Bouillon to the Biſhoprick of Liege; and it's probable he may ſucceed therein, if the Elector of Cologne, our Biſhop, does deſire a Coadjutor, which he has hitherto on the contrary been very averſe to, as well with relation to this Biſhoprick as the Archbiſhoprick of Cologne, in which the Prince of Newburg and the Biſhop of Strasburg are pretenders to the Coadjutorſhip.

Bruſſels, Jan. 30. The Elector of Cologne has ſent a Miniſter to reſide here, who has aſſured his Excellency of his Maſters good intentions towards theſe Provinces, and of his readineſs to embrace any Propoſition that may conduce to their Peace and ſecurity, and particularly of his willingneſs to comply with his Excellencies deſires as to Dinant, upon ſuch conditions as ſhall be found reaſonable; but that not only the conſent of the States and the Chapter of Liege, and that of the Emperor and Empire, but likewiſe the approbation of the Pope muſt be had before he can part with that place, which is the Patrimony of the Church. But this cannot be done in the time limited by the French. Yet this is not the only matter which perplexes this Court; for the French give it daily freſh occaſions of diſquiet: We are now informed that they have given notice to Leſſines, Ninoe, and Grammont (upon which the French have ſet up a pretention) that they intend to ſend Troops to quarter there, the like they have done to Nivelle, Hall, and Enghien. Monſieur Sourdis, Commander of the French Troops at Weſel, has ſent to the Marquis of Rhisberg, Governor of Guederland to let him know, that he muſt paſs through that Country with his Troops in their return to France, and
